United Mine Workers' Leader Wins Voice in Shaping Course Of Labor-Industry Conference

Lewis Wages Successful Battle To Get Representation for UMW on Executive Committee

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Bushy-browed, ponderous John L. Lewis kicked up a storm in the labor-management conference today with a bid to get representation for his United Mine Workers on the important Executive committee—and he won his battle.

While management delegates looked on in silence, labor's top leaders wrangled heatedly for more than an hour over the composition of the committee which will sift all conference business and have the power to include new subject matter in the agenda.

As originally planned, the committee was to have eight members equally divided between labor and management. Labor's half was to be divided between the AFL and CIO. Committee is expanded.

But Lewis wasn't satisfied with this setup and as a result of his objections the conference finally voted unanimously to increase the committee membership to sixteen to make room for Lewis' United Mine Workers and the railway brotherhoods. Under the new division, management will have three seats, the AFL and CIO will have three each and the mine workers and brotherhoods one each.

There was a curt exchange at one time between Lewis and President Philip Murray, of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, who at first vigorously opposed any change in the composition of the committee.

Murray declared at the morning session there were rumors of a "veritable blitz" set Lewis and T. C. Cashen, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association and delegate for the brotherhoods, on to the Executive committee and that it was the responsibility of the conference chairman to make any such change.

Green Supports Lewis
Lewis rejected that Murray had used "despicable and unique German terminology" in referring to him and declared: "Mr. Lewis doesn't care a tinker's malediction whether Mr. Lewis personally is a member of any committee."

"I represent in this conference directly," Lewis said, "just as many laboring men work for a living as any man here."

Lewis had the support of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who told the conference he "could not conceive of a fairer or broader proposition" than including the mine workers and the brotherhoods on the committee.

Green proposed that labor's representation on the committee be split equally between the CIO, AFL, mine workers and brotherhoods, giving each a single vote, but the conference compromised on this point and held that the CIO and AFL should have the greater part of labor's vote.

No Objections From Management
Lewis' victory gives him a voice in shaping the course of the conference. For the committee, as outlined in the agenda, will "co-ordinate the work of the conference; be responsible for the integration of reports of all other committees (except that on rules); if requested it will also consider and may report to the conference on any subject on the agenda not otherwise assigned; it may also deal with such other matters of a general nature as may come before it."

There were no objections from management delegates to the change in the committee composition as long as the votes remained equal between labor and management.

Veto of Baltimore Tax Bill Is Asked
BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Paul Robertson, chairman of the Republican City committee in Baltimore, today asked Gov. O'Connor to veto the bill adopted in Monday's brief special session of the General Assembly, granting general taxing powers to the City of Baltimore.

O'Connor announced earlier at Annapolis that he would sign the bill at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow.

In a telegram to O'Connor, Robertson proposed another "emergency session of Maryland's legislature for the purpose of aiding our people in this hour of peril."

His telegram questioned the legality of the taxing power granted the city Monday and asked for the veto "on the grounds that the Legislature did not consider in its hurried and unfortunate adjournment the real issue and primary cause of Baltimore's present financial crisis."

Commission To Receive Report on MacArthur's Administration of Japan
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Far Eastern Advisory Commission, representing all major allies of Asia and the Pacific, has been arranged today to receive a report on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration of the affairs of conquered Japan.

Mr. Gen. John H. Hildring, War Department chief of affairs, will be "clear picture," as one official of MacArthur's administration to date.

U. S. Marines Will Quit North China Soon, Reports Say

China Negotiates with Reds for Landing of Troops in Manchuria

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, Nov. 6 (AP)—American Marines sitting precariously on the lid of seething North China will go home, probably by December 3, unofficial Tientsin reports said today—leaving China's scrapping Communist and government forces to make their own peace or fight their own war.

A dispatch from Yingkow, Manchuria today reported that a Chinese government representative and Soviet authorities were negotiating for the landing of Chinese Nationalist troops in Manchuria from ships of the United States Seventh Fleet.

The dispatch quoted Gen. Tu Yuming, who will command the Chinese peace preservation corps in Manchuria, as saying the Russians had agreed to guarantee safe landing of Chinese troops at Yingkow. Tu said they were unable to give the same assurance for their entry into Tatumkow "owing to the smallness of Russian forces" there.

Reds Will Be Out by Dec. 2
The Russians, however, told him the Chinese could land wherever they wished after the Russians withdrew, but that any landings at Dairen or Port Arthur would have to be approved by Moscow.

The dispatch stated the Russians were supposed to have begun withdrawal from points south of Mukden November 25. By midnight December 2, all Russian troops will have been withdrawn, it added.

Pessimists expect the lid to blow at any moment, and there was evidence today that American military leaders also are increasingly concerned about the possibility of all-out civil war. Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, returning from Washington to his China command, flew to Peiping first, to confer directly with his field commanders in the North China trouble zones.

Red Claims Are Unconfirmed
He reportedly was informing them of official War department policy: American forces will take no active role in China's internal strife.

Dispatches from Peiping today said there still was no confirmation or denial of Communist claims that American marines had driven the Reds from the summer resort town of Peking, near Chinwangtao, with machine guns. Peiping sources doubted the story, and Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of the Third marine amphibious corps, reiterated his earlier statement that marines would not fire on anyone except in self-defense.

Republic Asks NLRB To Reject CIO Union's Strike Vote Request
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Republic Steel Corporation today asked the National Labor Relations Board to disregard a CIO steel workers request for a strike at Republic's plants on the ground the union was under a contract agreement not to strike.

Thomas F. Patton, Republic's vice president and general counsel, made public a letter he had written NLRB Chairman Paul Herzog calling attention to the April, 1945, contract with the union which has until October 15, 1946, to run.

Patton said the union pledged in return for the pledge "was granted maintenance of membership and the checkoff of union dues" by the corporation.

Parisians Are Attacked By Men in U. S. Uniforms
PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Six attacks on Parisians by men wearing United States Army uniforms occurred last night, French police said today. They also reported that two men wearing U. S. uniforms were wounded seriously by shots fired from a speeding automobile.

Bus and Trolley Strike Paralyzes Capital; Cabmen May Join Walkout
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—A taxi drivers' holiday intensifying Washington's all-day public transportation tieup was talked tonight. Street car and bus service is throttled by an operators' strike.

Thousands of government employees could not get to work today and the city's 5,000 taxis were busier than ever.

But the executive board of the AFL taxicab operators local has called a special meeting for 8 a. m. Wednesday. Vice President Charles Garrett said it has power to call a work stoppage.

"We've been talking with members of the (AFL) transit workers union and have decided we must take some stand," Garrett stated.

Another group, the United Taxicab Operators, announced no plans but President John R. Peters said members had been talking among themselves about possible strike action.

Less than half the city's cabmen are unionized, it is estimated. Union officials gave no figures.

Both sides in the bus and trolley strike agreed to attend conciliation parleys.

At a tumultuous "continuous meeting" which began before dawn, the drivers voted tonight to send a three-man committee to sit in with government conciliators tomorrow. Officials of the Capital Transit Company indicated they would be present also.

But the drivers, demanding a pay increase, made plain they had no intention of returning to work immediately. Shortly before 7 p. m. they called an "intermission" to go home and get some sleep, and arranged to continue their meeting tomorrow.

The government offered the services of a conciliator, Richard W. Goodrich. But E. D. Merrill, president of the Capital Transit Company, whose street cars and buses carry 1,500,000 fares a day, declares he would not deal with the AFL union until the men returned to work.

Goodrich has no authority unless both the union and the company agree to work with him.

Congressmen walked as Washington walked.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) called the stoppage "intolerable and outrageous."

He told the Senate there should be a law to prohibit walkouts and to force arbitration for all labor disputes involving public utilities.

In the House, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) said the walkout "must be a disappointing spectacle to servicemen who thought they were fighting the war to avoid such things."

Major Row over Truman's Policies Breaks in Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) launched today the first full-blown senatorial criticism of President Truman's policies with an assertion that the administration's legislative program "sounds like a CIO handout."

Sen. Hatch (D-NM), one of Mr. Truman's closest friends when the president was a senator, retorted immediately that the president and his administration "will be judged by the American people at the proper time and in the truly American way."

When Sen. Reed (R-Kan) asked whether Hatch was alluding to the 1948 presidential election, the New Mexico senator merely repeated his statement.

The discussion took place on the Senate floor. Wiley opened it by reading a letter Mr. Truman had written the Wisconsin senator replying to the latter's suggestion that a national conference be called on the question of universal peacetime military training.

The president replied: "I read your letter of October thirtieth with a lot of interest, and I appreciate your suggestion very much. However, I am of the opinion that the Congress is the responsible commission to act on this program, and I think the Congress should assume the responsibility."

Wiley said he thought it "inconceivable" for the president to call a labor-management conference that is "terribly unrepresentative of the parties involved" and decline to call a conference on defense problems.

Then he launched into the first full criticism of the president's program that has been heard in the Senate since Mr. Truman took over the executive office.

"There is not a single member of this great body who does not bear sincere love in his heart for Harry Truman, the man," Wiley read from a prepared text. "But many of us find increasing dissatisfaction welling up in our minds on the actions of Harry Truman, the statesman."

He said Mr. Truman had made a "wage speech which goes up the hill and back down again and leaves the situation as badly muddled as before."

"The president pleads for a program which out-new deals the New Deal, which item for item sounds like a CIO handout," he declared. "Spend, spend, spend with never a heed as to where and how the money is coming from. x x x"

"The president puffscoots with irresponsible labor dictators who are shamelessly wrecking our reconversion effort."

Hatch called this "partisan criticism and fault finding."

Italian Armistice Terms Are Made Public by Allies
WASHINGTON, NOV. 6 (AP)—Italy's twenty-six-month-old armistice terms finally were made public today, but restoration of that battered country to full international standing still appeared to be months away.

Publication of the armistice terms in Washington, London and Rome disclosed that the British-American allies, on paper at least, had imposed on their beaten enemy a severe surrender pact. In practice, however, it became increasingly lighter.

Government officials explained that the harsh terms were drawn up when Italy was merely a defeated enemy, but the relaxing process was accelerated as that nation became a "co-belligerent" of the Allies and stepped up its war effort against its former German partner.

The original terms signed September 3, 1943 were more sweeping and detailed than those meted out to the former German satellite nations of Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. They gave the Allies complete control over all phases of Italy's military, economic and political life.

In addition to provisions for cessation of fighting; transfer of war booty; and disarmament of Italian forces, the terms provided for the creation of a new Italian government.

Kivimäki; former Minister of Education Antti Kukkonen, and former Minister of Finance Tycko Reimaks.

Atomic Secret Cannot Be Kept, Molotov States

Russian Foreign Commissioner Calls for Allied Control of Japan

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Nov. 6 (AP)—Foreign Commissioner V. M. Molotov, asserting the atomic bomb cannot be kept secret, promised Russians tonight that the Soviet Union will have "atomic energy and many other things."

A signal bell had to be rung to quiet the tumult that welled through the hall of St. Andrew in the Kremlin when Molotov made this statement in his speech on the eve of the twenty-eighth anniversary of the Red revolution.

Molotov said the use of atomic energy must not be employed in a political play for strength.

He called for Allied control of Japan, and while he described the London foreign ministers conference as a failure, he said "only the joint efforts of the three great powers" could secure the victories of the democratic countries over fascism.

U. S. Is Not Mentioned
The United Nations, he asserted, must not "become the tool of any one great power."

On atomic energy, the foreign commissioner said: "We desire that our nation shall bloom, and that there will be atomic energy and many other things."

"It is not possible at the present time for a technical secret of any great size to remain the exclusive possession of some one country or some narrow circle of countries."

"This being so, the discovery of atomic energy should not encourage either a propensity to exploit the discovery in the play of forces in international policy, or an attitude of complacency as regards the future of the peace-loving nations."

The colossal destructive force of the atomic bomb has not yet been tried, he said, "for averting aggression or safeguarding peace." His speech did not mention the United States or other countries in connection with atomic energy.

Stalin Is Absent
Generalissimo Stalin, reported to have returned this week from his Black Sea vacation, was not present in the hall, and there was no explanation of his absence. A long message of greeting was sent him.

Molotov asked for reparations from defeated Axis nations in a spirit free from revenge, and warned his countrymen they still were living in a world "where the roots of imperialism still remain."

Referring to the new deal Russia should give great attention to "strengthening the collaboration" gained in victory.

O'Dwyer Is Elected New York's Mayor; Frankenstein Trails Jeffries in Close Detroit Race

Jeffries in Close Detroit Race

DETROIT, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Jeffries tonight grabbed a 5,170-vote lead over Labor Leader Richard T. Frankenstein, who had the support of the CIO Political Action Committee, in the fiery non-partisan mayoralty campaign. From 850 of the 1,116 precincts, the incumbent polled 173,827 votes to 170,667 for Frankenstein.

(By The Associated Press)
William O'Dwyer, Democrat, was elected mayor of New York yesterday (Tuesday) in a landslide hailed by party leaders as having an important bearing on 1948.

Democratic candidates running as such or on non-partisan ballots also led their mayoral opponents in other large cities of the East and Middle West at a late hour last night.

In Detroit, CIO-backed Richard T. Frankenstein, union leader, jumped into a lead over Mayor Edward J. Jeffries in a bitter non-partisan race after the latter had held a slight margin in the early count. Later, Jeffries surged to the front again.

Rep. James M. Curley, Democrat, was easily elected mayor of Boston. It was his fourth election to that post. He ran against five other registered Democrats.

Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, of the Democratic National Committee, said O'Dwyer's defeat of Judge Joseph Goldstein, Republican-Fusion-Liberal and Newbold Morris, "No Deal" candidate, "has a direct and important bearing on both the 1946 and 1948 election prospects."

"Beginning of End" for Dewey
"It not only attests to the growing strength of the Democratic party," he said, "but proves the popular will for a government pledged to carry on, under President Harry S. Truman, the policies and program of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, New York Democratic state chairman, said O'Dwyer's election "marks the beginning of the end of Gov. Dewey's influence as a political figure in New York state."

Dewey supported Goldstein in the New York contest.

With 3,462 of the city's 4,633 election districts reported, O'Dwyer had 963,239; Goldstein, 363,535, and Morris, 349,693.

On next January 1 O'Dwyer will take office—the first Democrat to be elected New York mayor in twelve years.

Goldstein and Morris conceded victory to the Irish O'Dwyer—he was born in County Mayo, Ireland, fifty-five years ago—less than three hours after the polls had closed at 7 p. m.

O'Dwyer, who studied law in his spare time while pounding the sidewalks as a city cop years ago, in a victory statement said:

"We must all realize that we are facing four difficult years. It will take the united efforts of the people and the administration to pull through."

Lawrence Leads in Pittsburgh
"I intend to be the mayor. I will be the mayor of all the people and I hope that I can have the support of all the people in this heavy task."

Republicans were elected in Syracuse and Buffalo, but Democrats showed strength in many other upstate New York cities.

Auto Companies Challenge Report

DETROIT, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Automobile Manufacturers' Association today challenged a commerce department report that the car industry could advance wages over the next two years with out increasing costs and still "make high profits."

George Romney, general manager of the association, made public a letter to Secretary Wallace asking for a "re-examination and correction of the statement on the basis of available facts." He asked also for the right on behalf of the car industry to examine and obtain copies of whatever statistical studies authors of the report may have used to support their statements.

"I have not been too critical of him because I understand that his decision was on the advice of the secretary of the navy."

Brooks called on Republican members of the committee to "resign, if they don't give you as much authority as an assistant attorney."

In the House, Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) and Keefe (R-Wis.) members of the ten-man Senate-House committee, declared the Democrats were "protecting" someone by denying individual members access to government records.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.), vice chairman of the committee, retorted that this wasn't a one-man investigation, that "everybody who has any information will be invited to testify" at public hearings starting November 15.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill.) declared that if the Republicans persist in their demand to go through all the files, presidential army and navy, "we'll be here for the next six weeks investigating Pearl Harbor."

Calling these remarks "unfair," Sen. Murdock (D-Utah) demanded: "What has the president of the United States got to do with the investigating Pearl Harbor."

Assembly's Action Will Aid Industry

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 6 (AP)—Gov. O'Connor said today that the repeal of the wartime provisions of the Unemployment Compensation act relative to merit rating at Monday's special session of the Legislature would save $7,330,640 for 1946 industrial and business concerns in the last three-quarters of the current fiscal year.

The wartime clause of the Compensation act prevented 612 firms, with a combined payroll of $415,798,020, from sharing in the benefits of merit rating because their total personnel was in excess of 150 percent of their 1940 employee. Repeal of the clause would entitle all but fifteen of these firms to rates lower than the 27 per cent now assigned them, O'Connor said.

The governor declared that 566 of the affected concerns would enjoy the lowest contribution rate 9 per cent. O'Connor said that despite the loss of $7,330,640 the compensation fund would be more than adequate to meet any demands on it.

The fund is now at its peak, he said, after twelve weeks of payment running as high as $500,000 in a single week.

Railroad Executive Says Victory Bonds Are Inflation Stop-gap

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—W. M. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific Railroad and former rubber administrator, issued the following Victory bond statement today:

"Every campaign of the United States Treasury Department has had the enthusiastic support of railroad workers—men and women alike. The Victory loan will be no exception.

"Railroad workers recognize that these government bonds—those for war and now those for peace—are an insurance for their own protection. They know that a bond bought today—and saved—is an assurance of their own financial security in the future—and a stop-gap on inflation as well. We still have a job to do. Americans won't quit in the middle of the game, even if the score is two to nothing in their favor."

War Department May Activate 30 Divisions Of National Guard

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—War department plans for the national guard call for ultimate activation of thirty divisions, compared with eighteen called into service in 1940 and 1941. Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, told the Adjutant General's Association today.

Provision has been made for not less than twenty-four divisions, he said in telling of plans for a "young and strong" national guard.

Standards for guard and reserve officers will be the same, he said, thus making it possible to transfer a guard officer to the reserve if full tables of organization make promotion impossible before an officer passes the allowable age in grade.

Gen. Reckord said guard training would be under ground, air and service forces rather than under the area service command as in the past.

Tuck Wins in Virginia

William M. Tuck, South Boston, Va., long a stalwart leader in the Virginia Democratic organization headed by United States Sen. Harry F. Byrd, was elected governor of Virginia by a landslide victory of better than two to one over two opponents.

With 1,454 out of the state's 1,716 precincts reported, Tuck had received 102,922 votes to 46,831 for State Sen. S. Floyd Landreth, Galax lawyer and banker, and Republican candidate, and 3,902 for Howard Carville, Richmond lawyer who ran as an independent. Additional returns were not expected to change the percentages materially.

Republicans captured Hartford and New Haven, Connecticut's two biggest cities, in municipal elections. The elections brought to an end the fourteen-year Democratic reign of Mayor John W. Murphy. New Haven's seven-term mayor, who was defeated by City Alderman William C. Celentano, Republican, 32,455 to 28,911.

Hartford, which went Republican two years ago for the first time in a decade, remained in that column as Cornelius A. Moylan, city police judge, defeated former Mayor Thomas J. Spillane, Democrat, 28,956 to 19,751.

Navy Plane Carrying 20 Persons Is Missing

HONOLULU, Nov. 6 (AP)—A search was begun late today for a naval air transport service C-54 Skymaster many hours overdue on a 1,000-mile flight from Guam to Manila bay.

NATS said no trace has been found of the four-engine transport which was carrying thirteen passengers and seven crewmen. It last was heard from only 100 miles from its destination Sangley Point, Manila bay, where it was due at 2:30 a. m. today, Eastern Standard Time.

Names of all passengers and crewmen were withheld.

The army transport command announced meanwhile that sea and air search had been abandoned for eleven persons missing from an army Liberator-type transport which crashed-landed at sea last Saturday. Eight injured survivors and seven bodies were found at the scene by rescue craft.

The monthly publication will contain reports by shop stewards and other news of interest to union leaders, Miss Frank added.

The first page of the paper will be printed and other pages mimeographed by the local's office staff.

Larry Rogan, New York, TWUA educational director, will attend a meeting of the educational board and committee meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. when the educational work of the union will be discussed.

Miss Frank added that an institute for the interpretation of the union's contract with the Celanese company will be conducted in December.

OPA Accepts Settlement Of Waingold Estate Case

Settlement for $2,225.11 of an OPA treble damage claim by the estate of the late Benjamin Waingold was announced yesterday in Baltimore by Bernard S. Needie, Maryland OPA enforcement attorney.

The case, the settlement of which is the first on record in Maryland, involved the sale of rejected tank armor steel plate at over ceiling prices.

Needie explained that, following Waingold's death in December, 1944, the question rose whether the claim could be transferred from Waingold, the defendant at the time the claim was filed, to his estate.

A federal statute passed June 16, 1933, Needie said, saves any civil claim filed by or on behalf of the United States government. Therefore, the claim could be transferred to Waingold's estate.

Corriganville Firemen Have Very Busy Night

The Corriganville Volunteer Fire Department had a busy evening last night.

The company answered a call to help check a fire in the three-story Algonquin hotel, Hyndman, at 5 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock the company was called to Barreille where the firemen successfully checked a flu fire in the home of Colin Bowers who lives in one of the two-story company houses there. There was no damage.

The child's mother told attaches the boy was injured when he fell from a banister to a concrete pavement eight feet below. The child's right forehead was swollen and he was in a semi-conscious condition when admitted.

Italian Armistice

ships, merchant vessels and aircraft, return of Allied prisoners; surrender of all territory required for bases and guarantee of the use by the Allies of all air field and naval ports, the armistice contained two "catch-all" clauses.

One gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the right to take "any measure" which he deemed necessary for the Allied war effort.

The other gave the Allies the right to impose "other conditions of a political, economic and financial nature" at a later date.

The terms contained none of the widely-rumored provisions for permanent disposal of Italian territory and property. Newsmen immediately asked why the pact had been kept secret for more than two years.

Officials replied that the Allied military had opposed publication during the war on grounds that the terms would be used for propaganda purposes by the Germans and Mussolini's puppet-Fascist regime.

Japanese Trusts

prepared to specify which other Zaibatsu would be affected. He did announce, however, that the nation's "big five" banks, mainly controlled by the Zaibatsu, will be overhauled.

The banks he referred to are the Koki (Imperial), Mitsubishi, Yasuda, Sanwa and Sumitomo, with deposits totaling billions of yen.

A survey issued by Allied headquarters disclosed widespread ramifications in the relations of the "big four" trusts with business firms throughout the world. The survey named Westinghouse, Tidewater Associated Oil Company, International Telephone and Telegraph, Aluminum Company of America, Libby-Owens-Ford and others as examples of big business linked through stockholdings or agreements with such houses as Mitsui and Mitsubishi.

The survey also reported close relationships between the "big five" banks and American banking institutions.

Change Is Made In Fee Schedule

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Riley, state director of health, announced today that the state board of health has directed a change in policy in the medical care program so that the standard fee for services will be maintained by the individual counties until their appropriations are exhausted.

Previously, the advisory council on medical care had recommended that disbursements be pro-rated in the event the total bill exceeded the total monthly allowance.

This decision was made, according to the council's original statement of policies, "not because it is considered a desirable policy, but because it is the only practical procedure available by which expenditures may be kept within the limits of funds available."

Under the new ruling, any deficit incurred by a county would have to be made up in some other way yet to be determined, Dr. Riley said.

With this one exception, he said, the state board of health approved the recommendation of the advisory council.

Final plans for twenty-two counties have been approved and are in operation, but Charles county's program is not yet ready, Dr. Riley said.

By the end of September, eleven counties had medical care programs in operation, with the majority in their earliest stages.

Figures released by Dr. Dean Roberts, chief of the bureau of medical services, showed that $2,522.35 had been disbursed in the eleven counties through September 30, with $1,236.69 going to Caroline county which started its program in July.

The overall sum was spent as follows: services, $2,311.74; drugs, $189.61 and travel, $21.

CAA Examiner Explains Flight Regulations

Planes must remain at least 1,000 feet high over cities and should always be high enough when over such a section to permit sliding to a safe landing in the event of motor trouble, George A. Ruhl, local examiner for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said yesterday in explaining general flying regulations.

Acrobatic flying is not allowed over cities or congested areas but is permitted other places after the pilot makes sure of the proper clearance, Ruhl said. A plane must be 1,500 feet in the air for such flying, according to license requirements.

Stating that most accidents are caused by low flying, Ruhl said that the limit in open country is 500 feet with the exception that CAA inspectors and flight instructors are allowed to test and give instructions regarding forced landings.

Dr. Riley Gives Warning On DDT Insecticides

Warning that insecticides containing DDT, now available for civilian use, have poisonous qualities, Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the state department of health, yesterday listed some of the necessary precautions which must be taken in using such insecticides.

Preparation of DDT should not be used near an open flame or fire; persons spraying the solution should be careful not to spill it on their skin or to inhale the solution or powder containing DDT; and the powder or spray should not be used on or near foods and should not be used on dogs, cats or other household pets.

Dr. Riley added that DDT preparations are not effective against all insects, and that more concentrated solutions are needed to kill some pests than others.

Runway Lights at Port Used for First Time

Employees at the Cumberland municipal airport reported last night that lights bordering Runways No. 2 and 3 at the port were lighted for the first time after dark yesterday.

Four green lights are placed at the end of No. 2 runway and No. 3 has three green lights. White and yellow flush type lights outlining both runways were also turned on. A beacon located on a hill north of the port was not lighted last night, however.

The lighting equipment was installed recently by the Edward Zwicker Corporation, New York.

LISTEN WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson

(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

So you've made a mistake? And you're feeling sunk and sore? Trying, of course, to keep folks from discovering it, but if they do, you say, you'll "stand up like a man and take your punishment." That the way you feel then get wise to yourself! Instead of being ashamed of that mistake, be proud that you could make it! No, I'm not saying you should be proud of the blunder itself—but proud of the urge that lay behind it.

Thank God for that spark of His own divine free will! It is the greatest power and privilege in human life. And stop talking about "taking your punishment" for that mistake.

Ashamed to make a mistake? Better be ashamed if you don't make any! Anyone can lead a safe life, a pleasant, popular life. Any one can escape criticism and achieve a spotless reputation. But what human with real spunk and intelligence would desire to lead such a life or have such a reputation?

For one can only achieve a spotless reputation by never offending public opinion. But upon what is public opinion based? Largely on mass cowardice, stupidity, laziness, sentimentality and conceit—all of which should be considered by any sensible person, but never to the point where it cramps healthy curiosity and rebellion.

We aren't here to acquire pretty reputations. We're here to LIVE. And how can you live unless you move with Life, who is herself the greatest experimenter, the most colossal blunderer? Every rock and twig and living body bears the record of countless formulas that didn't work to the one that did—yet the Old Gal goes whooping right along! If you're wise, you'll whoop with her.

Made a mistake? Then swab up the wreckage, perk up your ears and start in again. If there are amends to be made, make 'em. Tears to be wept. Spill 'em and get it over with. But, while you're paying and weeping, still be proud and grateful that you have the makings in you of adventure, even though it comes high.

Remember, no matter what you've lost, no matter what it cost, you can be wiser and stronger for that experience if you'll have it so. Success is a pleasing experience, but you'll learn more about yourself, your world and your neighbor by one honest blunder than by a thousand triumphs.

Where Publicity Might Have Done Some Good

THIS NEWSPAPER would not intentionally do the city police department an injustice. It should be the first to stand up for law and order, to commend diligence in enforcement and to adjure respect for the law, which is all important.

But so far as Halloween pranking in the community was concerned, the people were unaware all during the observance that anything out of the ordinary was being done. It was as ordinary as taken for granted that the situation was well in hand and that such pranks as were being committed were of the usual kind and not serious. An editorial in this newspaper October 26 cautioned against excessive zeal in the observance and warned against depredations amounting to vandalism, urging due respect for property rights and pointing out the obligation of parents in that respect.

Then, all of a sudden, on November 3, the commissioner of police made public the statement that vandalism was rampant all during the Halloween celebrations and to such an extent that the police department was quite unable to cope with it. It was the worst in history, he stated.

That, of course, was deplorable. But what this newspaper cannot fathom is why the police department did not take the people into confidence and inform them of the various acts of vandalism as they were being committed. A search of the newspaper files shows that only one report of the kind was made, and that by the police but by the superintendent of schools, who made note of the fact that many school windows had been broken over a period of the preceding three months, this report coming the morning of Halloween. The superintendent offered a reward of $100 for the culprit or culprits who broke a valuable window at the Mount Royal school. Previously, William A. Gunter, in the course of an address, warned against destructive school pranks.

The point made here is that if the city police had let the people know of an untoward situation while it existed instead of shutting up like a clam and waiting for nearly a week afterward, the police might have had more co-operation from the people, and perhaps sentiment respecting enforcement efforts might have been a bit different than it was. Publicity is usually a good prophylactic.

It Sounds Much Better, Anyway

THE MOSCOW RADIO in an English language broadcast a day or two since, declared that the Soviet Union has repeatedly demonstrated its readiness and willingness to work hand-in-hand with its allies in attaining a really lasting and just peace.

Quoting the Soviet publication "New Times," the broadcast reviewed what it called Russian co-operation at Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco in laying the foundation for an effective organization of international security.

"It would be a mistake," the broadcast said, "to think that even in war-time the co-operation between the Soviet Union and other freedom-loving countries was always attended by absolute identity of attitude and unanimity on all points. Both in our social system and ideology, the Soviet socialist state differs materially from the United States and its allies. Naturally, this does not fall at times to be the cause of divergences even on important matters. It suffices to recall the question of the second front in Europe."

"But this did not prevent us in the end from finding a common ground with our allies on the chief and most fundamental question of all—namely, the organization of victory over the Nazi-Japanese imperialists. x x x

"Peace that has been won must be safeguarded. This is in the interests of the Soviet Union, a strong factor of universal peace and security, and in the interests of all other freedom-loving nations."

It is difficult to reconcile this spirit with some of the things that have been done by Russia and some of the utterances of its leaders, and there may have been some misunderstanding resulting from faulty interpretation both literally and figuratively, but it is good to hear this sort of thing now. Let it be hoped we shall hear more of it from Moscow in deeds as well as words henceforth.

Pearl Harbor

Dynamite

THE PURPOSE of the congressional investigation into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be defeated unless the inquiry is thorough, fair and nonpartisan. The disaster already has been investigated three times—by the Roberts commission, by an army board and by a navy board. All three have failed to satisfy the public because the feeling is general that pertinent facts were ignored or covered up to serve the purposes of politics or policy.

The American people want the full story, and they want an unbiased verdict on the culpability of all who are responsible for the defeat. President Truman made a good start when he offered to throw open the White House files and to give the committee investigators access to all the testimony available to the army and navy investigators.

That promising beginning has been nullified by the decision of Democratic leaders to give their party a majority on the committee instead of making it truly bipartisan. And now the investigation has signed an order which provides that witnesses and records can be subpoenaed only by a majority of the ten-member committee.

This obviously gives the majority six Democrats veto power on the course of the investigation. These members may not play politics with the inquiry, but certainly they will have every opportunity to do so. They can avoid any angle which might be explosive or embarrassing by the simple expedient of ignoring it, and the Republican minority will be powerless to force the issue.

That is not the kind of a Pearl Harbor investigation that the public wants and should have. Pearl Harbor still is political dynamite, and Democratic leaders seem to have forgotten that dynamite is safest handled in the open.

Russia and The Olympics

MOVES are already under way to restore the international athletic competition disrupted by the war and in general this seems like a good idea. It is a little difficult, however, to prove that amity and good will between nations is promoted as much by these contests as their enthusiastic proponents argue. Sometimes, in fact, the reverse seems to be true.

One serious difficulty will arise when these contests get under way—the fact that the Russians have a vastly different attitude toward sports than the western nations. The Soviet attitude towards sports is pretty grim. This was first brought home to Americans in the Inter-Allied games in Berlin when the Russians withdrew their athletes at the last moment because it looked as though they were going to be linked and Moscow feared that Soviet prestige would suffer as a result. And it is now revealed that the Russian government is offering cash prizes to athletes for record-breaking performances in an effort to spur competition.

It is a trifle startling, in the first place, to find the communist paradise resorting to the profit motive in such a bare-faced way. The practical result is that it will put a decided crimp in Russian participation in the Olympic games. Soviet athletes who accept these prizes will be ineligible under the amateur rule published and the USSR will have no alternative but to send second-raters to the games or none at all.

Under these circumstances, it doesn't look as though international sport is going to be very helpful in cementing Russian-American good will.

A Mechanical Seeing-Eye Dog

OUT OF THE WAR has come a new boon for the sightless. The army signal corps is developing a mechanical seeing-eye dog.

A light beam producing sound signals is projected from a nine-pound case, carried like a hunch box. By these signals the user can tell the distance and direction of obstacles. He can see the case from side to side and scan his path with it. The effective range is two to twenty feet.

The light beam reflects obstacles to a photo-electric cell, which transmits code signals on a single earphone connected to the case by wire. Different code signals denote different distances.

The new "eye" for the blind is still in the model stage and production awaits final improvements. Seeing-eye dogs are faithful guides, but specialized training limits their number. The new radar-like instrument may be expected to bring freedom of movement to countless blind persons to whom that is now denied.

Secretary Byrnes says information acquired by the navy has cleared former Secretary of State Hull of any implication that he "loosened the button that started the war with Japan. That just about cleans up the whitewashing list."

The Japs changed quickly after the war ended, according to Sgt. Lyle Howdysell, home on a pass from an army hospital. Well, considering what was done to them, they had every reason to change.

Selective Service has put a ban on the further induction of fathers of three or more children, taking action at the request of the army and the navy. It makes sense.

Senator Reed (R-Kan.) will ask for a formal investigation of why the army is slow about releasing doctors. It is high time that something was done about this.

MULTIPLE PEOPLE

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Walt Whitman once exclaimed that he was immense—that he contained multitudes! I read an interesting statement about Shakespeare recently. It said that his characters were so true and real, and that he understood human nature so perfectly that "he was not a man, but a continent!"

The best in us all is inherited or borrowed from scores of others. We are in fact multiple people. Unconsciously we take upon ourselves the attributes of others and imitate from the great storehouse of all humanity and nature.

It is well that we come to realize the full significance of influence. We can hardly make a move or think a thought without furnishing food for influence. Books and people have influenced the world from the time of creation, and in all nature are facts and truths that have made inspiring books and changed the course of many a life.

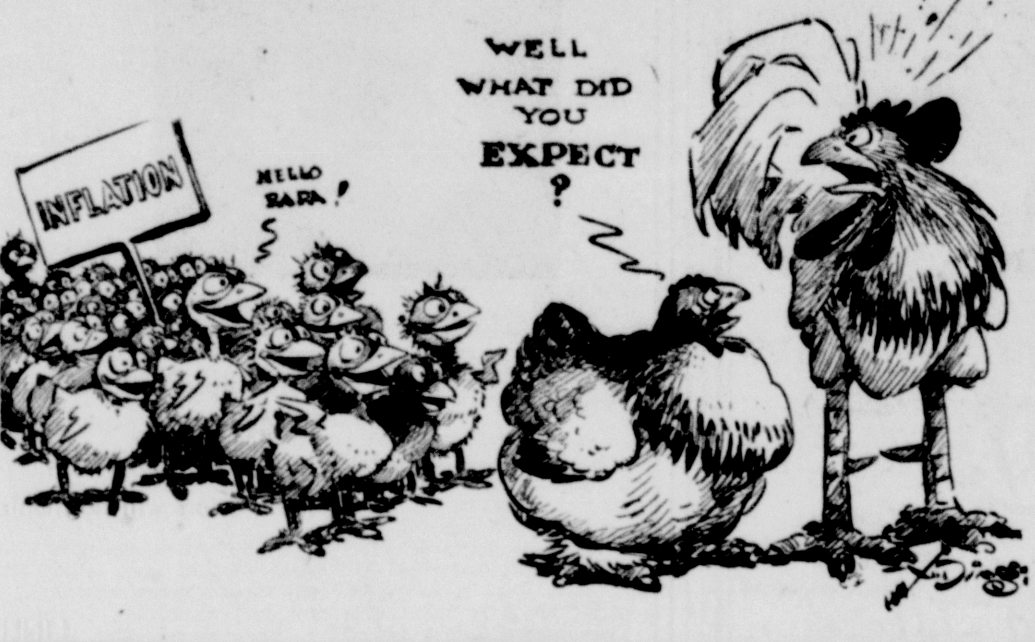

In our bodies are all the elements that sleep within the earth. How truly do we belong to—Mother Earth! How happy we are when walking upon her soil and breathing the fragrance of her breath as emanating from flower, tree and the soil. How fresh and stimulating the smell of her winds and rains.

I look upon a night sky, packed with brilliant stars, and wonder at them anew each time, and yet there is not a single star in that vast expanse of beauty and mystery so significant as one human being! In us all are all the stars, all the wonders, all the mysteries, all the unsolved riddles of the Universe. We are multiple people. The fact should spur us on. Life itself is significant.

A notable task is handed to us when we are given life. The supreme task for us, however, lies in our ability to handle it aright, and with courage. Our lives keep multiplying for us, increasingly, as we give to others as we contribute to their happiness, and as we live the multitudes that are of us so much a part.

Files Show Ample Pearl Harbor Warning But Jap Attack Was Expected Elsewhere

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—In Monday's column it was revealed that the Army board probing Pearl Harbor had written a supplemental report marked "top secret," not hitherto published. Among other things it discloses that a secret Jap message was received and decoded on November 20, 1941, two weeks before Pearl Harbor. The decoded message read "Tokyo broadcast the phrase 'East Wind Rain' it was to mean war with the United States."

This "Winds" message is part of the file which Republican members of the Pearl Harbor committee claim is missing. Six copies of the decoded "Winds" message were made and distributed to different branches of the government, but the original copy made by the navy has disappeared from the files, and some insiders now contend that this advance warning never was received.

The "Winds" message in navy file "No. 7001," contained the logs of three navy monitoring stations which turned in on Jan. short-wave broadcasts. This entire file has disappeared. On December 4, three days before Pearl Harbor, Tokyo sent out the "Winds" message notifying Jap embassies and all Jap ships that war would come any moment. Rear Adm. Leigh Noyes, chief of the Naval Communications section, phoned this information to Col. O. K. Sadtler, of army intelligence, at 9:30 a. m. December 5.

Col. Sadtler immediately notified Gen. Sherman Miles, head of military intelligence, and Col. R. S. Bratton, army intelligence expert on the Far East. The secret army report then states that Sadtler was instructed to call Adm. Noyes and get the exact text of the "Winds" message. However, Noyes refused to talk to him.

The admiral explained that he was in conference and "too busy," but would attend to the matter later.

"That may be too late," Col. Sadtler frantically reported to Gen. Miles.

Miles promptly contacted Gen. Leonard Gerow, chief of the War Plans division, suggesting that army leaders in Hawaii be advised at once of the Jap war messages. Col.

Sadtler also talked to Gen. Gerow, stating: "War is coming and coming quickly."

However, he got nowhere. Gen. Gerow took the position that military chiefs at Hawaii already had "plenty of information."

Pearl Harbor Warned

In this connection it should be noted that on November 27, one week before Adm. Husband Kimmel in Pearl Harbor had received a message reading: "This dispatch is to be considered a war warning. Negotiations with Japan have ceased and an aggressive move by Japan is expected within the next few days." A similar warning had been sent to Gen. Short by the War Department. Other warnings had been sent on Nov. 28 and Nov. 30. This was why the Roberts report pinned the blame on Short and Kimmel.

Meanwhile in Washington, the secret army report reveals that another ominous Jap war message was intercepted. This was a note from Tokyo to its Berlin embassy for transmission to Hitler. Sent on November 30, the message assured Hitler of continued co-operation and characterized as "insulting" Secretary Hull's final peace proposal of November 28 requiring the Japs to break with the Axis and remove their troops from China. The message to Hitler further stated that the United States considered Japan, "along with Germany and Italy, as an enemy."

Col. Sadtler next appealed to Col. Bedell Smith, now a lieutenant general on Gen. Eisenhower's staff in Germany, but then secretary to the general staff and right-hand man to Chief of Staff Marshall.

Smith also was unresponsive to suggestions that further warnings be given army leaders in Pearl Harbor, according to the secret army report. When he learned that the matter already had been taken up with the war plans division, he "declined to discuss the matter further."

Finally Col. Sadtler and Bratton induced Gen. Gerow, of the War Plans division, to have the matter referred to the navy. Informal chiefs in Pearl Harbor of the recent message with the idea that the navy in turn would inform Gen. Short. However, this round-the-bush scheme never went through.

Reason behind this involved plan, presumably, was the fact that Adm. Kimmel, not Gen. Short, was responsible for the main defense of Pearl Harbor. Under army-navy rules, army planes were not permitted to fly out over the water from Pearl Harbor more than 100 miles and it was up to the navy to do Adm. Kimmel, despite the war warning given him on November 28, was not sending out scouting planes.

Red Tape in Washington

On December 6, one day before Pearl Harbor, came the final chapter in the fantastic drama. Late that night, Tokyo sent another coded message to the Japanese ambassador in Washington giving Tokyo's reply to Hull's peace proposal of November 28.

The lengthy message was in fourteen parts and flatly rejected Hull's terms. The fourteenth part was received by Ambassador Nomura just after midnight and informed him that another important message would be forthcoming in a few hours.

Meanwhile, our own code experts were at work on the message and decoded it almost as fast as it was received by the Jap embassy. And according to the army's "top secret" report, when they got to the fourteenth part of the message, the tone was considered so hostile and unequivocal as to be a virtual declaration of war.

Early in the morning of December 7, Ambassador Nomura received his final message. It was an instruction to present the last fourteen-point reply to Secretary Hull "1 p. m."

This was the hour of the Pearl Harbor attack.

At about 8:30 Sunday morning, Col. Bratton tried to reach Gen. Marshall. The chief of staff was out horseback riding. He did not return until 11:25. So, at about noon, Marshall finally sent a message to Gen. Short which went by RCA and did not reach Pearl Harbor until twenty-two minutes before the Japs struck. It was not decoded and handed to Short until after the day's fighting was over.

Tip-off to the mistake made by Gen. Marshall and others was that he phoned Gen. MacArthur in Manila, whereas he sent the message to Gen. Short by slow cable. This was the mistake also made by the navy and by Adm. Kimmel. The navy's war warning to Kimmel on November 27 suggested that the Japs might attack the Philippines, Thai, the KRA peninsula or possibly Borneo. It directed the admiral "to execute an appropriate defense deployment."

However, when Capt. Edwin T. Layton informed Kimmel on December 2 that four Jap airplane carriers had broken away from the rest of the fleet, were unlocatable, and might even be rounding Diamond Head of Pearl Harbor, Kimmel took no steps to scout for them or to be on the alert. These were the carriers from which five days later, were launched the planes that sank the backbone of the U. S. fleet at Pearl Harbor.

An impartial reading of the facts, both those still secret and those hitherto published, shows conclusively that Kimmel and Short received ample warning—even as early as October 16—that Japan might attack the United States. U. S. policy was that "it was desirable for Japan to commit the first overt act, in case hostilities could not be avoided." Finally, it is clear that everyone, both in Washington and Hawaii, expected Japan to attack the Philippines or the Dutch East Indies.

No one expected the attack to come at Pearl Harbor. And when Franklin Roosevelt, who had taken such pride in building up the navy, received the crushing news the afternoon of Sunday, December 7, he put his hands to his head and said: "My God, my God, how could it have happened?"

Industrial Peace Is Seen Possible With a Few Rules

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Truman is working vigorously behind the scenes as well as through public speeches to guide the Labor-Management conference to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Truman put his finger on the weakness in the whole labor problem when he said:

"There are many considerations involved. At the basis of them all, is not only the right but the duty to bargain collectively. I do not mean giving mere lip service to that abstract principle. I mean the willingness on both sides, yes, the determination, to approach the bargaining table with an open mind, with an appreciation of what is on the other side of the table—and with a firm resolve to reach an agreement fairly."

But how can there be a fulfillment of the president's desire on this point when there are no rules for collective bargaining? Despite the extensive publicity that has been given the phrase "collective bargaining," there are no procedures nor any obligations governing both sides.

Unions Not Amenable

Thus if an employer wishes to resort to dilatory tactics, he can be accused of not bargaining "in good faith" and he can be hauled up before the National Labor Relations Board and compelled by the courts to cease trifling. But labor union representatives can capriciously delay or stall or even resort to a sudden strike without warning the midst of negotiations and suffer no penalty whatsoever.

Whenever any group knows that it can do anything even approaching irresponsible action without the slightest chance of incurring penalty, the temptation to adopt arbitrary or unreasonable tactics is likely to be present. This, in turn, provokes the employer side and the stage is set for a bitter dispute and a strike.

What the nation would welcome would be sensible rules for the conduct of collective bargaining—not rules that interfere with Labor's right to secure gains through negotiation, but rules that prevent both sides from sabotaging the process itself.

Wasteful Negotiation

Thus, in many instances, labor unions keep management occupied throughout a whole year negotiating a contract. This involves an economic waste of vast proportions in management's time and energy. Usually the technique is to agree at the outset that any pay increases will be retroactive to the date of starting the negotiations. Then the negotiations sometimes last about six to nine months. After a brief interval notice is served by the union that another contract must be negotiated. The result is to keep management and labor in a perpetual state of armistice, with hostility oozing out of both sides and the chance for an era of peace or friendliness to heal the wounds of the negotiations.

Another phase of collective bargaining is to prevent all the processes of reason from being used. Management is prohibited from communicating with its own employees during the course of a negotiation. The officers of a union can prevent reason from working among its own members. Too often compromises and a counter-proposal made by management which might lessen the friction and produce a friendlier atmosphere are suppressed and the union members learn only that management is refusing allegedly to make any concessions.

Publicity Helpful

Hence a rule requiring publicity for the proposals of both sides would improve the collective bargaining process so that at all times the union members, whether they attend meetings or not, would be informed of what is being considered by their representatives.

When rules are drafted to govern collective bargaining, some means of separating in two categories the questions that come up constantly in contract negotiations would be helpful. Working conditions, including the closed shop or maintenance of membership or the powers of shop stewards or foremen or matters of seniority, could be put into one category and stabilized for two or three years but with wage scales subject to reopening either every six months or every year. The custom of demanding extreme or unreasonable working rules so as to trade them off for wage increases is one of the insanities and deceptions which make collective bargaining the source of much labor friction rather than its cure.

The Labor-Management conference could do a remarkable service for the cause of industrial peace if it drew up a few simple rules governing collective bargaining and if it made them applicable to both parties.

Bureaucrats Are Stalling Recovery, Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The following is from the grass roots.

"Our men left for the war industries. They won't come back as long as they can eat free off the government. The result is that we have eight men working compared to 175 before the war. The greatest housing shortage in history, but only a handful of houses being built." Brickyard manager, Austin, Tex.

According to W. D. Teague of New York city: Prefabricated plastic houses, equal to the conventional $4,000 or $5,000 house, could be built to sell for $1,500 by mass production methods. Allowing something for his enthusiasm, it is plain that the biggest postwar job of all, and the most needed—housing—is being held up by uncertainty as to government policies on taxes, prices, rent ceilings, strikes, etc.

Hotel Plans Shelved

"We have plans ready for immediate postwar development of an addition of 175 rooms that would cost approximately one million dollars. But the attitude that labor organizations took, immediately following the termination of the war, we have decided to shelve our plans indefinitely. No doubt thousands of projects similar to ours, are being postponed; whereas if Labor had a different attitude, thousands of projects would now be under construction. Until such time as labor organizations take a different attitude toward efficiency and wages, it is not our purpose to construct any project of importance." Manager of eight hotels.

"No sane property owner is going to stick his head in the O.P.A. noose by undertaking to build as long as rent ceilings are going to be fastened on new construction." Spokesman for National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"We are told by O.P.A. to sell new electric motors at October 1941 prices, but labor and materials have risen thirty per cent since then. Do we have to go out of business?" Manufacturer in Maryland.

"Just a worker who hopes to have my own business and home when the government gets out of the way of success." Sandpoint, Idaho.

"Nothing but being forced to live in a hollow log would tempt me to build." Lawrence, Kan.

Unreasonable Rental

"On a house which costs $7,000. The Gest-O-P-A forces me to rent it for $15 a month, or what tenants were paying forty years ago." Alliance, O.

"I am now a repair man. Will build no more houses until we have a free market. My rents are frozen by O.P.A. at pre-depression levels. Why risk more of my savings? Builder in Columbus, O.

"Until the government gives protection against mobs, business will keep close to shore." Crockett, Tex.

"O.P.A. reduced a $26 rental which

Contented Wife Has Little Fear Of "Other Woman"

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Not long ago I asked correspondents who had made a go of successful marriage to write me about it. Some of the letters have been very helpful. Take this one:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:
The great secret of marriage is to understand your husband. He's flesh and blood just like you are, and no Sphinx. I've never given my husband a chance to get that old wheeze off to some other woman. My wife doesn't understand me."

"When I have friends at our house, I make sure my husband likes them. Even if he dislikes people for no good reason, I don't have them around when he's there. Suppose he doesn't like your Aunt Hattie, have her to lunch or meet her downtown. Don't jam Aunt Hattie down his throat."

"It's the same with food. And food comes right after love, sometimes even before it in the happy home. Don't give him spinach because you think it's good for him, if he dislikes spinach. The spinach fable has about run out anyhow. Marketing conditions are better now, though goodness knows they're bad enough. When you have to go from shop to shop to find something worth while, don't lose your looks and get your mouth down at the corners, griping. Just persuade yourself you're taking this market exercise to keep your figure."

"Put the food on the table as attractively as possible. A sprig or two of parsley tends to make a dish appealing. Have your table appointments immaculate. You needn't tell him you bought the pie like his mother used to make, at the bakery. Canned food is useful, but don't feed him exclusively out of cans."

"After six years of marriage, I've never been afraid of the other woman, nor do I think the recording angel will judge us severely for the white lies of married life—his and mine. When he told me that the attractive blonde my dearest friend informed me she saw him lunching with downtown was his Cousin Della, I swallowed it. But a few days later I had lunch with a purely apocryphal Cousin Bill, came home with a corsage which I purchased myself."

"Babies are the great home savers, and parents, unless there is some valid reason, should have families, as many as they can take care of and educate. Unless a man is weak in the head—alas some of them are—the other woman will not get him away permanently from the little toddler who calls him 'Daddy' and bears his name."

"And finally, common-sense in marriage, as in everything else, goes a long way to save the ship."

RAINBOW DOCTOR

ELIZABETH BANNING... Color is her business...

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—There would be fewer family quarrels, less indignation, a drop in the divorce rate and better tempers if seventy-five percent of all home interiors in America were not painted off-ivory.

This is the considered opinion of Elizabeth Banning, a redheaded gal from San Francisco, who is kept very busy these days bringing the rainbow indoors. She says:

"A little color can change the whole atmosphere of a home, can make life brighter, happier and smoother for the people

PILES Hurt Like Sin! But Now I Grin

Thousands change groans to grins. Use a real doctor's formula for distressing piles. Instant relief of pain, itch, soreness. Helps soften hard parts; tends to shrink swelling. Use doctors way today. Get tube Thornton & Minor's Rectal Ointment or Thornton & Minor Rectal Suppositories. If not delighted, low cost is refunded. At all good drug stores everywhere.

She advocates more color in homes, inside and out. Bright flowers, awnings, indirect lighting—all these things can be used to make the home a thing of life and beauty, instead of just some place to hang your hat, says she.

After a childhood in Iowa, when she used to take all the brightly-colored dresses off her mother's clothesline, Elizabeth studied at the Chicago Art Institute, then went to Germany for further pursuit of knowledge of the science of color. Now she works with architects in making color a part of structure, has done color plans for railroad terminals, but companies, factories and homes. She is introducing new colors in ready-mixed paints for a paint company, hopes someday to have a standard color chart available throughout the country. Says she:

"Color is my business!"

Professor's Body Is Found in Chesapeake

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The body of a man found in the Chesapeake bay today was identified as that of Dr. Sam S. Blackman, 41-year-old associate professor of pathology at the Johns Hopkins university, who had been missing since October 28.

The body was found by coast guardsmen, who had been conducting a search for Dr. Blackman.

Previously, the professor's sailboat, with all sails set, had been found beached on a shallow sand bar near Pasadena beach.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

46 States Change Laws Affecting War Veterans

CHICAGO, Nov. 6 (AP)—Forty-six states changed laws affecting war veterans, members of the armed services, their dependents and their organizations in 1945, the Council of State Governments reports.

Mississippi and Louisiana did not have legislative sessions this year but because of action taken in 1945 or earlier all forty-eight states now have state organizations to handle veterans affairs.

Changes made in 1945 in the main were extensions of prior state laws concerning:

Claims service designed to assist all veterans in the prosecution of their claims against the federal government.

Hospitals and home care of veterans and their dependents in state institutions.

Economic grants to veterans and men in service and their eligible dependents to relieve or prevent want and distress.

Employment preferences and preservation of job rights.

Land settlement benefits and occupational and tax exemptions.

New legislation approved in 1945 had for its main purpose the rehabilitation of World War Two veterans and concerned:

Bonuses to veterans or legal heirs. Educational grants to eligible veterans to prevent want and distress when federal or other benefit is inadequate.

Increased educational opportunities and training courses in state institutions and loans to qualified veterans for their rehabilitation, education or for aid in the purchase of homes, farms or business.

Play Is Feature Of AHS Assembly

Omicron Kappa Sigma, Allegany High School dramatic club, Tuesday presented "Sugar and Spices," a one-act comedy of youth, by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, at the school assembly. The play was directed by Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, club adviser.

Everette Mitchell, who was outstanding in junior high dramatics, made her debut this morning in high school dramatics in the role of Jane Jones, playing opposite Wayne Dawson, a member of the Allegany football squad, who portrayed Chump Edwards. Dorothy Elder appeared as the erstwhile French coquette, Susan Harling; and Kathryn Schade and Robert Doty played Jane's humorous and understanding parents.

Margaret Baker spoke the prologue to the play; Sylvia Mitchell read the Scripture, and Lewis Walker led the flag salute. Prior to the play James Auman, property mistress, credited the assistance of the business houses in the production of the play.

The staff assisting Miss Pritchard included: Earl Manseau, Robert Starcher, Pete Dendrinos, James Close, Donald Humbertson, Harold Friend, Dan Mars, Jennings Curry, stage; James Auman, Lorraine Kompanek, properties; Ann Martin and Barbara Bright, script; Shirley Wilson and Elmore Troxell, publicity; Marjorie Schade, wardrobe.

The next scheduled club activity is "The Kappa Kapers," the O. K. S. semi-formal school dance to be held in the Allegany gym, Friday night, November 16.

Preston Lane Side-steps Governorship Question

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP).—Preston Lane, publisher of the Hagerstown Herald and Mail and Democratic national committeeman from Maryland, had a ready reply for reporters today when they asked him if he was a candidate for governor.

As he left the White House, where he had been talking politics with President Truman, Lane told reporters:

"I'll answer you this way—if anyone who has been associated in Maryland politics as long as I have said he wouldn't aspire to the governorship, he wouldn't be telling the truth."

Lane said he discussed politics and the economic situation with the president, but that he did not want to go into details. Some of the conversation, he said, dealt with Maryland specifically.

COME HELL, HIGH WATER OR RIDICULE, OREGON'S SHERIFF POSSES RIDE TRAIL

MAIN STREET ROUNDUP—When this Clackamas county sheriff's posse cantered up to the Portland, Ore., Red Cross blood bank to give blood, they were dressed in olive green bouses, orange ties, tan slacks and cowboy hats. Fulltime police and cowboys sneer at them, but they are kind to their horses.

By WILL LINDLEY
AP Newsfeatures

PORTLAND, Ore.—A passel of roottin' tootin' Oregon sheriff's posses are going to hit the trail soon, but they won't be after cattle rustlers or stagecoach bandits.

All they want is a ride in the country on a cool morning followed by a little hunting or fishing and a large western-style campfire meal.

The old West is rapidly fading, despite efforts of such groups to keep it alive, and their activities as posses can be only a mild imitation of the hell-for-leather volunteer outfits that once were the principal law enforcement bodies west of the Mississippi.

Oregon's deputies, part-time officers serving without pay, have drawn unkind words from full-time police and anti-cowboy boys, but Sheriff Fred Reaksecker, of Clarkamas county, who rode with posses in old Wyoming, says the men are "a good sort, who take pride in their horses and are organized in a group to entertain the public with drills."

The posses also receive such digs as the story on a Portland society page, which said:

"In spite of the sidearms they wear and the daredevil angle to their wide-brimmed hats, their activities are pacific enough—drills of a fine, nippy morning, some fast cross-country runs or a breakfast ride over the hills in the direction of ham and eggs or sizzling fried chicken."

Oregon's posses are made up of city men who work five or six days a week in steam-heated, air-conditioned, fluorescent-lighted offices and long for the open range.

Most fulltime deputies sheriff cruise Oregon in cars equipped with two-way radios and utilize scientific crime detection methods which frequently frustrate honorary posses attempts to catch bandits.

Although members of posses are sworn representatives of the law, their titles are for the most part tokens, and the men are called out only in extreme emergencies.

Wartime brought more emergencies than usual, but things are slackening off now and the posse riders are getting back to their former pursuits, such as sponsoring rodeos.

A. B. Miller, of rugged Willowa county is one sheriff who takes his deputies seriously. To get around over the terrain in that part of Oregon, Miller says, the deputies depend on horses, boats and snowshoes.

But they don't care how rough the going is, he adds, as long as they're back at the office in time for work Monday morning.

In Hinduism it is believed that he who dies in debt suffers torment or degradation in the next life.

Portland cement, made by an English stone mason, Joseph Aspdin, first appeared in 1824.

The Egyptians, Carthaginians and Romans knew all about cement, and used it.

In 1800 Harvard fined students who went to a party in Boston $5; a visitor to the theater was fined $10.

Frostburg City Purchases Land For Parking Lot

Area Will Relieve Congestion, House City's Equipment

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 6.—The mayor and city commissioners are negotiating for the purchase of two tracts of land on Mechanic street, owned by Cecil Randolph and Samuel Gerson, for the purpose of providing the community with a parking lot large enough to accommodate several hundred motor cars.

The movement to have a city parking lot has been under way for some time and one lot, together with the building known as the Hitchens warehouse, has already been purchased from the Hitchens Brothers Company.

The idea is to prevent the increasing congestion of cars on Main street and also to provide a garage and warehouse for city cars, trucks and equipment.

Mayor Skidmore stated last evening that the area, consisting of part of the property formerly owned by Hymie Leipschitz, would be leveled off as soon as it is acquired by the city. The tentative plan is to replace the present building with an office warehouse and garage in another location on the lot and to arrange the remaining area so that cars can enter from Main street by way of Maple and Broadway to Mechanic on the west.

The alley between the Frostburg department store and the Palace theater would be closed to vehicular traffic, the mayor said.

To Hear Representative

The Lions and Rotary Clubs and the Frostburg Business Association are sponsoring a public meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the city hall to hear a representative of the M. Berkowitz Company, New York, discuss plans for the erection of a large building here for the manufacture of pajamas.

The company is operating in a frame building on East Main street, which, the management claims, is not large enough for the expanding business.

The meeting is open to all citizens.

Plan Service

The annual Thanksgiving day religious service, sponsored by the Frostburg Ministerial Union, will be held Thursday, November 29, at 10:30 a. m. in Salem Evangelical and Reformed church.

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Watson E. Holley, pastor of First Methodist church. The offering will be used to purchase an oxygen tent for the Miners hospital.

Plan Bazaar

The Pioneer club of the Welsh British Memorial church will hold a bazaar Friday evening, November 9, in the church annex, Beall street. The program, commencing at 7:30 o'clock, will include vocal solos by Frank Diehl and the Misses Stella Mae Chidester and Mabel Rann, piano solos by Betty Ann Thomas and Margaret Scott, and an accordion solo by Doris Hower.

Miss Margaret Workman, chairman, has appointed the committees to conduct the bazaar.

They are — entertainment, Sarah Jane Davis, Marian Skidmore and Ann Thomas; posters, Mary Morgan, LaVerne Kerr, Rachel Hughes and Jane Harrison; fancy work table, Helen Jeffries, Louise Wade and Marian Hughes; cake and candy table, Mildred Walker, Rachel Hughes and Margaret Watson. Kitchen, Mary McLuckie, Mary

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Nov. 6.—Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., attorney for Westernport, was requested at a meeting of Mayor Milton McIntyre and commissioners to write the Maryland health department advising them that the water lines in Bloomington are in bad condition and that Bloomington will not repair them.

Successful Hunting Trip Is Concluded By Frostburgers

Wagoner, South Dakota, a town about the size of Midland, has been the most popular village in America the last five weeks as far as sportsmen are concerned.

The village, located in fertile Dakota rolling farm country, is surrounded by thousands of acres of corn fields. And there are probably more ring-necked pheasants in these cornfields than in any other place in the country.

Hotels Were Jammed

Last week, County Commissioner Simon W. Green, Cambria Williams and Wesley Slesman, all of Frostburg, John Sanders, Cumberland, and Roy Polson, Sioux City, Iowa, made up a hunting party and headed for the fabulous Dakota happy hunting grounds. The party made the 1,100 mile trip by automobile and drove 650 in one day.

Once there, the party found Wagoner's three little hotels jammed with sportsmen but Green's group had made reservations so had a place to stay. However, there were nimrods sleeping on the floors in that hotel and all adjacent farm houses were doing a thriving boarding house business. Among the sportsmen there for a bit of hunting were men from every state in the Union. General Marshall, chief of staff, had returned last week to the Dakotas for his second hunting expedition since the end of the war.

Sportsmen are allowed eight birds a day. Green only got seven the first day but got eight each day for the next three days. In all, the commissioner bagged thirty-one pheasants and three ducks.

The other members of the party did equally well. Slesman got thirty-one birds and the other members of the party got thirty each.

90,000 Licenses Sold

In addition to the ones they brought home, Green estimated that the party knocked down about 100 birds that they were unable to find due to the weeds in the corn fields.

Green said last night that a total of 90,000 sportsmen have taken out licenses to hunt in and around Wagoner during the five week hunting period. The commissioner said the season had begun to slack off somewhat with the birds now beginning to get wild due to all the shooting.

Green and other members of the party shipped their birds home and they arrived yesterday. They were sent in special refrigeration units and arrived "hard as rocks," Green said.

Thirty-one pheasants is a lot of good eating. Green said he wasn't having any trouble disposing of his birds, however.

Tragedy Continues To Follow Family

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—A marine frantically sought by relatives and friends was enroute from China to his Charleston home today when he died of an illness which today unaware that his baby daughter-baffled physicians.

Four-month-old Georgene Shingleton, blind since September, died yesterday without ever seeing her father, the fifth tragedy in a series which has dogged the family of Pvt. George E. Shingleton.

In an operation two weeks ago it was found that two large clots pressed upon the tot's brain, probably causing blindness.

The father, stationed in China when the baby was stricken and finally located by the combined efforts of the Red Cross, American Legion, and other organizations, was reported on October 22 to be on his way home. His expected time of arrival was not given.

A day after the baby's birth June 12 the father was wounded on Okinawa. Later the baby's sudden illness led to the discovery that her skull was fractured. Last February, four months before Georgene's birth, Mrs. Shingleton fell and fractured her arm. Several months ago the father's brother, Richard Allen, was killed when struck by a bus.

Vandals Continue To Damage School Property, Kopp Says

Vandals are continuing their damaging attacks on public school property, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, reported yesterday.

Nine windows were smashed in the McCool school building Sunday night, the superintendent said.

Kopp also said that school authorities are of the opinion that the damage was not done by children. The superintendent said rocks were thrown through a heavy wire screen to smash the windows.

Kopp said offer of a $100 reward for information leading to the conviction of culprits involved in the vandalism still stands.

Fifteen More Vets Return to States

Fifteen tri-state servicemen, including five local men, have arrived in this country from overseas service.

The local men are Staff Sgt. Joseph Victor Malloy, 328 Cumberland street; Pfc. Chester R. Collins, 120 Virginia avenue; Staff Sgt. Robert E. Miller, Cpl. Eugene P. Natale, 213 West Second street, and Sgt. James E. Sullivan.

Those from other parts of Western Maryland are Sgt. Alexander Barclay, Jr., Lonaconing; T-4 W. D. Murphy and T-5 Cecil LaRue, Frostburg; Gordon O. Kiser, Oakland, and Pvt. Connell J. Robinson, Avilton.

The West Virginians in the group are T-5 Raymond O. Stevenson, Tunnelton; Pfc. Stanley I. Sheets, Keywood; Staff Sgt. George L. Williams, Petersburg; Cpl. James Kee, Franklin, and Cpl. John L. Parlette, Berkeley Springs.

NEW TORTURE TANK TESTS NAVY SHIPS OF TOMORROW

FISH'S EYE VIEW—How this object reacts to the caprice of currents may give Uncle Sam better ships in the future.

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON—Speedier and stronger ships may be designed for the navy as a result of a new apparatus that gives a fish's eye view of current's effect on the undersides parts of a ship's structure.

The apparatus, built at the navy's David W. Taylor Model Basin in nearby Carderock, Md., is a circulating water channel which hurls 2,800 tons of water against ships' gear or scale ship models to simulate real equipment knifing its way through the ocean.

As the pumped water courses past, with the test object held stationary, observers watch through windows in the side walls and the floor of the channel. Motion and still photographs are taken from all angles.

Up to now the Navy has tested its ship models and other gear by towing them through motionless water with a carriage moving on tracks which, for accuracy, follow the curvature of the earth. But with such a test basin the model can be towed only 300 feet at a time; technicians must wait until the waves have subsided before a new test can be started; and it's hard to make underwater observations when the test object itself is moving.

For that action he wears the ETO ribbon with four battle stars and the Good Conduct medal.

The circulating water channel allows observation of the model continuously and under the best possible conditions. Navy architects long have sought ship data similar to what aircraft designers obtain with a wind tunnel.

The new equipment, which will supplement the old, may bring about changes in hull and propeller design. It may add to the scarce knowledge on how to protect anchored vessels and such stationary objects as buoys and harbor nets from tidal and other currents.

Sgt. Blair Holmes Arrives Home

Tech. Sgt. Blair Holmes, 22, son of County Commissioner and Mrs. James Holmes, arrived home yesterday from Cairo, Egypt, with his discharge in his pocket.

Sgt. Holmes is the second of Commissioner Holmes' four boys to return from the service. Pershing Holmes returned several weeks ago. Two yet remaining in the service are Sgt. James Holmes, with a War Dog platoon of the United States Marines on Guam, and Lt. Robert Holmes, Brooks Field, San Antonio, Texas.

Commissioner Holmes said yesterday that Sgt. James Holmes is now helping to "detrain" war dogs. The sergeant wrote his father that the detaining of the dogs has been far from 100 percent effective. It has been necessary to shoot about half of the war dogs so far, he said.

Sgt. Blair Holmes said he was not well posted on activities in Cairo at the present time as his unit was shipped to Casablanca several weeks before they started for home.

The Western Pennsylvania-Maryland Typographical Conference changed their name to Tri-State Typographical Conference following the reaffiliation of the Wheeling and Martinsburg, W. Va., locals which withdrew from the West Virginia Conference.

The change was made at the Saturday-Sunday meeting at Beaver Falls, Pa., according to Burland E. DeBolt, first vice president of the organization, and George D. Cline, delegates from Cumberland Typographical Union No. 244.

Store Hosiery Clerks Have Own Peace Problem

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Department store hosiery clerks have their own peace problem—how to distribute limited shipments of nylons without ration points, feminine fist fights, or the complete loss of consumer good will.

Baltimore stores have found several answers. Some called a sale, faced a deluge of nylon seekers and sold out in a matter of hours. Some have waiting lists going back to 1942. Others are mailing invitations to their charge account customers, and they're all shuddering to think what a lot of disappointed females will do to their sales prestige.

Veteran Allegedly Shoots Wife, Self

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline R. Powers, 20, was reported to be "dangerously ill" at a Martinsburg hospital today and her husband, John C. Powers, was "resting comfortably" after a double-shooting in which, Prosecuting Attorney Clarence E. Martin, Jr., said, Powers shot his wife and then turned the gun on himself.

Martin said no immediate statement would be made as to charges in the case pending outcome of Mrs. Powers' injuries.

Martin told the following story of the shooting: Powers, discharged about a year ago from the army air forces, argued with his wife over a proposed trip. She fled to the home of a neighbor, Charles Blue. Mrs. Blue said the young woman ran into the front room of her home, the husband in close pursuit.

Blue said Powers fired several times at his wife, the bullets hitting her in the right hand, the right side and the stomach. The veteran then shot himself in the left side, the bullet fracturing his left arm.

Appeals Court Denies Meat Dealer's Request

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Fourth United States Circuit Court of Appeals denied today a request by Jacob Spevak, Baltimore meat dealer, to stay an Office of Price Administration order suspending his business involving rationed goods.

Spevak, convicted of conspiracy with a Kansas City firm to violate the Emergency Price Control act, appealed to the United States Emergency Court of Appeals. The appeal has not yet been decided nor was sentence imposed. Meanwhile, the OPA issued its suspension order.

The meat dealer appealed the order to District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut. When Judge Chesnut refused to set aside the order, Spevak asked the appellate tribunal to issue a stay of suspension pending an appeal from Judge Chesnut's refusal. This request for stay was denied today.

Three Schools Will Name "Most Valuable Players"

Hogan and Shute Lead in Tourney

Post Six-under-Par 66s in Opening Round at Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 6.—(P)—Belting Benny Hogan and veteran Denny Shute came within a stroke of the competitive course record today with six-under-par 66's to tie for the first round lead in the $5,000 North and South open golf tournament here.

Hogan, the Hershey, Pa., sharp-shooter, toured the front nine in 34 and came home in 32, while Shute, the tin man from Akron, reversed those figures to threaten Paul Runyan's 65 of ten years ago over the tough No. 2 layout.

In third place in a record field of 164 starters was Henry Ramsey, Houston, Tex., with 69. Altogether, seven players bettered par.

While Hogan, who has won the North and South twice and in 1942 set the tournament record of 271, was turning in his usual mechanically flawless game, Shute cashed in on fine putting, requiring only 23 shots on the carpets.

Slender Denny, winner of the 1936 National Professional Golfers Championship over this course, took only twelve putts on the first nine and eleven coming in. He finished strong to catch Hogan. Although trapped, Denny came out within two feet of the seventeenth hole for a par and holed a good putt for a birdie on the eighteenth. He had an eagle on the par-five fifth. Hogan had six birdies.

Li Cary Middlecott, of Memphis, topped the amateurs with a 70 and was tied for fourth with Herman Kaiser, of Akron. Bobby Cruikshank, of Richmond, Va., veteran, bidding for his fourth North and South victory at 50, was bracketed with five others at 71.

Newspaper Trophies Will Go to Player from Each School; Grid Dinner Set for December 6

Members of Cumberland's three scholastic football squads will be given an opportunity to select the "most valuable" player on their respective teams and each player chosen will receive a trophy donated by the Times and Alleganian Company, publishers of the Cumberland Evening Times, Cumberland Sunday Times and Cumberland News, it was announced last evening by John J. McMullen, president of the company, at a dinner in the Cumberland Country Club.

The dinner meeting, which was attended by representatives of LaSalle high school, Allegany high school and Fort Hill high school and the local newspapers, was called for the purpose of discussing a satisfactory plan whereby the "most valuable" player or players would be rewarded at the conclusion of the current season.

Players Make Selection McMullen explained that he was in favor of having the players themselves make the selection of the "most valuable" player annually and those present were heartily in favor of this method of determining those who are to receive the awards.

Under the setup agreed upon at last night's session, the football squads of each local school will ballot on the "most valuable" player on their team and the boys selected at each school will be entitled to receive the Times-News award. Suitable trophies will be presented to each of the winners.

McMullen stated that the Times-News will be hosts to the football squads of LaSalle, Fort Hill and Allegany at a dinner to be held December 6 and at this affair twenty members of each squad will ballot on the city's "most valuable player." The winner will be announced but there will be no additional award connected with this selection.

The local scholastic football squads comprise between thirty and forty players each but it was deemed best that the balloting at the dinner be limited to twenty-two players or the first and second team players on each squad.

At first it was planned to include all branches of athletics in the selection of the "most valuable player" but this was deemed too complicated. It was finally agreed that only football players be given consideration for the award.

School representatives at the dinner were Arthur G. Ramey, of the Allegany County Board of Education; Victor D. Heisey, principal, and John J. Cavanaugh, of Fort Hill; Ralph R. Webster, principal, and Walter L. Bowers, of Allegany; Brother Clement, director-principal, and Brother Gregory, athletic director, of LaSalle high school; Eugene T. Gunning, city editor; Ross W. Prysock and J. Suter Kegg, of the Times and C. V. Burns, of the News.

Twosy Wins and Boosts Earnings to $25,355

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—(P)—Calumet Farm's Twosy, an odds-on favorite, was hard-pressed by Morris Wexler's British Buddy but managed to win the featured Colicla at Pimlico today in a photo finish.

Some 12,500 fans saw Doug Dodson urge Twosy to victory in the six-furlong race. The heavily-backed filly paid $2.80 to win. British Buddy, ruled out of handicap money at Laurel because of stimulation, was driving hard at the finish. L. Feher's Sticker was third, six lengths back, in the field of five.

The victory worth $2,200 to Twosy, brought her 1945 earnings to $25,355.

LONAACONING, Nov. 6.—Beall high school's soccer team failed to score a field goal for the first time this season but converted three tries for penalty goals to defeat Central high school today and clinched the championship of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League for the 1945 season. The score was 3 to 0.

Central flashed its best form of the season in blanking the visitors from the field but Geis, goalie of the Frostburg aggregation, registered on penalty goals in the first, second and third periods to win the game for the visitors.

It was the sixth consecutive victory of the season for Coach Edward Finzel's booters and it marked the third time in W.M.I. League history that the Mountain City eleven had won the championship. Play in the league was resumed this year after a lapse of seven years. Beall having captured the last title in 1938.

The newly crowned champions hope to compete in the statewide championship tournament.

In the final game of the week, Central will play host to Bruce high, of Westminster, Friday at 4 p. m.

Jap Atrocities

church of St. Augustine, oldest building in Manila.

Men Were Massacred

The men were thrown into the old dungeons which served the Spanish a century ago. Women and children, he said, were kept without food in the church compound until hunger drove them to eating grass and roots of the patio gardens.

Four days later the men were taken out and forced to stand in the open streets under heavy artillery fire, then marched to Fort Santiago and massacred.

The laborer, Juan Paloda, testified he was one of 100 persons packed into a stone dungeon twenty feet square. He was stabbed later, he said, and left for dead in a pit with 500 other bodies.

Sister Nelly, a nun of the order of St. Paul, told how the Japanese burned alive a doctor and his patient. The doctor, she said, sought to save the life of Father Cornelius Van Russell, who had been fatally wounded while remonstrating with the Japanese. So that Japanese doused them both with gasoline, hung them to lamp posts and set them afire.

Defense counsel sought to weaken the impact of part of today's testimony by suggesting that many civilians who died during the final stages of the battle for Manila may have been caught in American artillery or small-arms fire.

Talbot Sees Army Beating Notre Dame by Fat Score

AP Writer Says Cadets Six Belfors Collect $3,060 Each on "Double" At Bay Meadows

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (P)—Army should wallop Notre Dame by a fat score on Saturday, possibly by as high as the 59-0 count of last season unless Coach Earl Blaik takes measures to hold it down.

This merely is the opinion of the writer, who has watched the Irish play twice and Army perform once in the past three weeks.

The Cadets are too big, too fast and too good for any college team playing today. Notre Dame, though ranked second to the Army nationally, is, by the estimate of one of its coaches, only about 60 per cent as strong as was the average pre-war Irish eleven.

Cadets are magnificent. Army is a magnificent football team by any standard. Those who have watched it explode on play after play this season figure it would take one of the top professional clubs to give the Cadets a thrashing—and they aren't too certain about that.

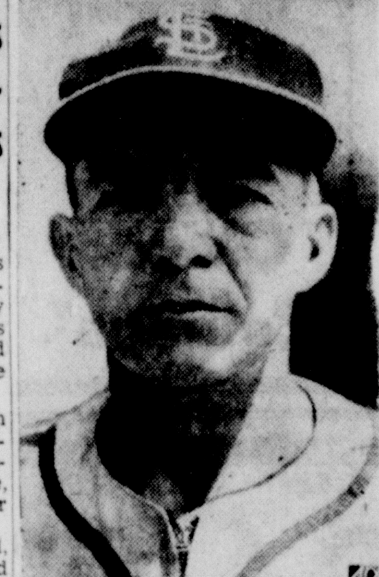

It would not surprise the writer to see Army go for a touchdown on the first two or three plays Saturday, while many laggards among the 78,000 ticket holders still are groping for their chairs.

True, Notre Dame made a surprisingly good showing against Navy last Saturday at Cleveland and deserved better than a 6-6 tie. The Irish, with better luck, might have won by a couple of touchdowns. But they were playing a team that did everything except step on its own fingers.

Two Ramblers Injured Further to their disadvantage, the Irish suffered important physical hurts to two of their best backs, Frank Ruggerio and Elmer Angsman, without whom their running

Southworth To Manage Boston Braves in 1946

Pilot Who Led St. Louis to Three Flags Will Receive Salary in Excess of $25,000

BILLY SOUTHWORTH

BOSTON, Nov. 6 (P)—The Braves electrified the baseball world tonight by announcing that Billy Southworth, who led the St. Louis Cardinals to three pennants, would be the new Boston National League Club manager.

Southworth, a great favorite in Boston, where he played the outfield for the Braves for three seasons, will succeed Del Bissanette, who took over in midseason after the resignation of Bob Coleman.

Obviously elated over the deal, General Manager John Quinn told newsmen that "with such a top-flight manager we feel we'll go places."

Salary To Exceed $25,000 Billy the Kid's salary was not announced but it was reported unofficially that it would exceed $25,000.

The deal was completed by telephone by President Lou Perini, of the Braves.

Mr. Perini made such an attractive offer to Southworth that Sam Breadon (Cardinal president) felt he couldn't stand in his Manager's way.

Southworth, who has had his ups and downs in baseball as a manager, began his baseball career in 1912 with Portsmouth of the Ohio State League, was with Cleveland for the next three seasons and played with Birmingham of the Southern Association in 1917 and 1918.

Pittsburgh brought him back in 1921 in a deal which sent Rabbit Maranville to the Bucs.

From the Braves he went to the Giants.

Marks Second Big Deal

Today's deal was the second big transaction between the Braves and the Cards. Early in the past season, the Braves purchased big Mort Cooper for cash and Pitcher Charlie "Red" Barrett.

"In his career," said the youthful executive, "as Cardinal manager he finished in first place three times, second twice, third once and fourth once."

Explaining that the Braves would "of course, allow Southworth to select his own coaches," Quinn added that both Bissanette and Coleman were remaining in the Brave organization.

In St. Louis, Breadon issued this brief statement:

"Shortly after the world series, Southworth called me by long distance and wanted to know if he could be released as he had a great opportunity in Boston and would like to accept it."

"I told him I would not stand in his way if he thought he was better leaving himself."

Dyer Is in Line

Reports in the Missouri city said that Eddie Dyer, former minor league executive for the Cardinals, was in line to succeed Southworth. Breadon had no comment.

SOUTHWORTH IS HAPPY TO RETURN TO BOSTON

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6 (P)—Billy Southworth, former pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, said tonight he was "very happy to return to Boston" as manager of the Boston Braves.

Southworth, signed to succeed Del Bissanette as Boston manager, declared while en route to Beantown, "I am sure the Braves' ownership will be very co-operative with me and I am looking forward to joining their organization."

The grey-haired pilot who led the Cardinals to three straight National league pennants said, "the Braves had the hitting last year and if we can get the pitching staff clicking, we may be able to cause some trouble in the pennant race."

"I will say that the Braves offered me a very fine contract, which was the principal reason for my making the transfer," he said.

Connair Improves

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6 (P)—Paul Connair, 19-year-old member of the University of Virginia football squad, who suffered a ruptured spleen in the game with West Virginia university here Saturday, is in good condition, hospital attaches reported today.

Connair who underwent an operation for removal of his spleen is expected to be released within ten days.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And where it gets blocked when it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out thoroughly—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills. Take them as directed. They gently and thoroughly "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

The Air" at 5 is to take up the development of radio over the years from the standpoint of production and its technical aspects.

"Great Moments in Music" is to have a Victory loan concert on CBS at 10, when Burgess Meredith is to be narrator. Also on MBS in the afternoons at 3:15, Mondays through Fridays, is now running a Victory matinee in behalf of bonds.

A special for MBS at 10, titled "Ice Polaris," is to come from an opening in Chicago.

For a change "Mr. and Mrs. North," of NBC, at 8 are to have a guest in the person of Ellery Queen when they solve "The Murder in the Mink." This appearance means Ellery is going to have to hurry, for his own program goes on CBS at 7:30 and does not end until 8. Kay Kyser, gradually working his way further westward toward Hollywood, is to stop off at the Sioux Falls, Ia., army airfield for his 10 o'clock hour on NBC.

Cumberland Faces Unemployment, Carroll Says

Few Jobs Are Available Now; Unemployment Claims Increase

Cumberland is smack up against an employment problem with few jobs available and applicants for employment being turned away daily, Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the local office of the United States Employment Service, said yesterday.

Francis Kenney, manager of the local office of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, disclosed that claims for compensation have increased from 359 in May to a total of 1,767 in October.

Carroll said the unemployment situation is likely to be much worse by spring and Kenney opined that the compensation claim peak has not been reached and probably will not be reached until spring.

Celanese Not Hiring
No more job applicants can be referred to the Celanese plant, Carroll said, because the firm has stopped hiring new help in order to hold open jobs for old employees now returning to work from the armed forces. The same situation holds true for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, according to Carroll.

With the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant shut down because of a strike, no job applicants can be referred there. If the plant were operating, however, an average of 200 men a month could be referred because of the rapid labor turnover, Carroll stated.

Commenting on the number of claims for unemployment compensation, Kenney said the increase has been gradual, but, he added, "I don't know where it's going to stop."

At the present time, unemployment compensation is payable to employees in firms employing four or more persons. At the last session of the legislature, however, the law was modified so that after April 1, 1946, compensation will be payable to employees in firms employing one or more persons.

Kenney Cites Figures
"With a contracting labor market and expanding coverage, anything can happen," Kenney stated, adding that no one "can hazard a guess" on the potential number of applicants.

To show the gradual but steady increase in compensation claims, Kenney cited figures for the past six months.

The total number of applicants for all claims for unemployment compensation in May was 359. In June the total had jumped to 609 and in July increased to 714.

August saw an increase in compensation claims to a total of 1,037 and in September the total was upped to 1,454. Last month, 1,767 compensation claims were filed.

Prior to May the number of claims had been relatively steady throughout the war, Kenney said.

Although Beall told the committee he would back the bill, he reserved the right to change in the measure is amended. The mayor said considerable progress was reported in the signing of thirty petitions calling for support of the bill.

Bradley Urges Vets To Retain Term Insurance

World War II veterans are urged to retain their National Service Life Insurance, or restate it if it has lapsed, by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans affairs.

Gen. Bradley pointed out that insurance can be re-instated at little expense and trouble by application and the payment of two months' premium if the veteran is in as good health as when discharged.

After six months, a physical examination is necessary upon re-insurance.

The administrator advises veterans to continue term insurance until the individual knows how much insurance he can afford when he converts to one of the three offered permanent plans—ordinary life, twenty-payment life or thirty-payment life.

The term plan, Bradley said, has been extended from five to eight years. There are no restrictions on residence, travel, occupation, or service and the policy is free from taxation and creditors claims on death.

In case of disability the veteran may occupy the insurance, levy and is not liable to attachment, process or seizure under any legal process.

Bradley said that payments can be kept up by notice to the administrator to take premiums from disability compensation, emergency officers' retirement pay or pension.

In case of disbursement the veteran may ask the administrator to keep his policy in force without paying premiums. If he should die without notifying the agency to waive his premiums, his beneficiaries may apply for waiver.

Premium payments, Gen. Bradley said, should be made by check or money order to Collections Subdivision, Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

Two Appeals Are Granted by Board

Two appeals for granting of occupancy permits were approved last night at a regular meeting of the board of zoning appeals in city hall.

Mrs. Bernadette B. Williams, 218 Emily street, was granted a permit to occupy the first floor of a building at 516 Patterson avenue as a grocery and confectionery store, and an apartment on the second floor. Her application was denied October 23 by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, on the ground that the building is located in a Residential "B" zoning district. It was pointed out in the application, however, that the premises were formerly used as a grocery store.

Ralph and James O'Neal, 451 Goethe street, blind brothers who operate concessions in the Public Safety building and the post office building, respectively, were granted a building at 400 Goethe street as a confectionery and grocery store.

Their application was denied by Rizer November 1 on the ground that the premises are located in a Residential "B" zoning district. The brothers said in the application, however, that the building was formerly used as a grocery store.

A rule was unanimously adopted by the board at the meeting that thirty days will be allowed for a person to file an appeal from the city engineer's decision denying a building or an occupancy permit.

The same length of time is allowed to file an appeal to circuit court from a decision of the board.

First Fund Drive Report Meeting Is Set for Today

Canvassers Are at Work in War Fund and Community Chest Campaign

The first general report meeting for all sections in the National War Fund in Allegany county and Cumberland Community Chest campaign will be held at 12:15 p. m. today at a luncheon in Central YMCA.

The appeal for a combined goal of $118,671 got underway following a "kick-off" meeting Monday night and will continue through November 16. About $20,000 of the goal is to be raised in the county, outside of Cumberland, and all of that amount will go to the National War Fund.

Auditors Ready at Noon
At the report meeting today, auditors will be in their places to receive the first reports at 12 noon. A big report board is ready for posting of figures in the Y gymnasium.

Henry W. Price, general chairman of the campaign, said yesterday that nearly 900 workers in the campaign organization are now busy making the canvass for annual gifts for the Cumberland Community Chest and the final gift for the National War Fund.

"This year," Price said, "we hope everyone will make a special effort to give a day's pay. Last year the average gift, other than those made through the advance gifts section, was $4.31."

One Gift for Many
"We hope all citizens give their full share, according to their earning power," Price said.

He added that a pledge may be made over a period as long as a year and said the contributor should remember that one gift is for the nine Cumberland agencies of the Community Chest and for nineteen agencies of the National War Fund, seventy per cent of which goes for USO work.

The state forestry department has announced plans to increase the facilities for winter sports activities at New Germany in Garrett county in response to queries from winter sports enthusiasts in Washington and Baltimore.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday that the department has purchased the big white house at the rear of the home of Park Superintendent and Mrs. Ellis Martin.

The house will be made over into an all-weather lodge with separate dormitories for men and women. There will be a large combination dining room and living room.

Johnson said that the brush which grew up on the cross-country and Whiskey Hollow slopes during the war has been cut and that Sam Ott has announced that he will again operate his ski tow this winter.

At present, the electric line is within one and one-half miles of the resort and it is hoped that it will be possible to eventually flood-light the slopes for night skiing.

The Garrett county commissioners have announced that the road leading into New Germany from Grantsville has first priority for repairs next spring.

Friendship Is Termed Good Cure-all For Most of the World's Troubles

Friendship was set down not only as the real fundamental motive power of Rotary but also as a pretty good cure-all for most of the world's troubles by Dr. Richard Aspinall, distinguished West Virginia educator in an address to local members yesterday.

In a talk replete with humor at the weekly luncheon of the club at the Central Y. M. C. A., the speaker recalled men, scenes and incidents at the formation of the local club, indulged in Rotary reminiscences and made some suggestions for future activities.

Dr. Aspinall, now director of student affairs at West Virginia university and formerly connected with West Virginia Wesleyan college, was governor of the Sixth Rotary district when the local club was formed and he was here for its induction. The district then comprised Western Maryland and all of West Virginia. Promoting the cardinal principle of friendship, Dr. Aspinall said are use of first or nicknames, regu-

Legion GI Gifts Group Receives Cash Donations

Forty and Eight "Bucket Brigade" Will Work Streets Next Week

Ambrose J. Burkey, chairman of the GI Christmas Gifts Committee of Port Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, announced last night that a number of checks and cash contributions have already been received from Cumberland individuals and fraternal organizations.

It was also announced last night that the local Forty and Eight post has agreed to support the program to the fullest extent.

On Armistice day night, twenty members of the Forty and Eight, clad in smocks, will form a "bucket brigade" and start down Baltimore street ten minutes ahead of the parade accepting donations for the Legion's GI Christmas Gifts program.

Charles G. Smith has been appointed chairman of a committee of Forty and Eight members to plan the event. The committee will meet Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Forty and Eight club rooms.

Yesterday, Chairman Burkey initiated coin boxes in places of business throughout Cumberland. The boxes are plainly marked indicating that contributions are for sick and wounded Maryland service men and women now in service hospitals.

Coal stripping operations of the Russell Mining Company and Franklin Hills Mining Company will be resumed today. Officials of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, said last night, after signing of a contract by George Hazelwood, operator of the companies, and representatives of the UMW.

Stripping operations had been shut down since October 29 because a new contract had not been signed. The contract signed yesterday, however, is effective Thursday and operations will resume today.

Hazelwood was the third large stripping operator in District 16 to sign a contract, according to district officials, who said contracts previously had been signed by Frank Corie, operator of the Shenandoah Mining Company, Thomas W. Va. and by the Thomas Engineering Company. Corie is one of the largest coal stripping operators in the United States.

Signing of the contracts should avoid any other labor trouble in stripping operations. District 16 representative said adding that they hope other smaller stripping operators will fall in line and avoid labor disputes.

Commissioners Asked To Repair Avenue In Bowling Green

Robert E. Norris and eleven other residents of Bowling Green yesterday presented a petition to the county commissioners to have Long avenue repaired.

The request was referred to County Engineer John H. Carscaden for investigation. The petitioners said the street is now unsafe for pedestrians or vehicular traffic, and will be worse in the winter time. The street project on the street is assessed at $33,000.

The board signed a lease for use of a room on the first floor of the county building, Union street, by the Veterans Administration.

The government will pay $30 a month for the room to be used by a VA representative in assisting former service men with advice on jobs and other matters.

Disabled American Vets To Sell Forget-me-nots

Fort Washington Chapter No. 2, Disabled American Veterans will conduct a forget-me-not sale in Cumberland, Saturday, November 10, and Monday, November 12, it was announced yesterday.

Girls with blue sashes and carrying canisters for contributions will be stationed at downtown intersections to receive contributions. The money is used to care for disabled veterans until they can be taken to hospital.

All contributions are used to help in the rehabilitation of disabled Maryland veterans, it was pointed out.

David McMillen, commander of Fort Washington Post No. 2, is in charge of the sale.

Veterans Service Center Advocated By CIO Speaker

Textile Union Names Committee To Aid Returned Servicemen

A Veterans Service Center for Cumberland was proposed last evening by Meyer Bernstein, Washington, representative of the CIO's veterans division, at a meeting of returned veterans of Local 1874 Textile Workers Union of America.

Declaring that veterans become disgruntled after being shifted from one agency to another in search for information, Bernstein suggested the agency as the solution to "the run around" veterans are getting in some cities.

Some 100 cities have established central offices where a serviceman can secure within a short time all the information and help needed for his entry to civilian life, he added.

Bernstein pointed out that veterans were entitled to reinstatement in their former positions or to a like position of similar pay and seniority.

Can "Bump" Downward
If your seniority, including your time in service, is sufficient, nobody can force you off your jobs, he told the veterans. If you are not entitled, through seniority, to your old job, you can "bump" downward according to your seniority.

The CIO veteran suggested that the Celanese union institute grievance procedure for veterans who believe they are entitled to vacation pay. Some veterans, the union reports, through seniority, are entitled to the vacation date for vacations, and Bernstein declared the union might make a good case on the grounds that the men were on a military leave.

Declaring that a plant such as the Amcelle could find a job within the capabilities of all disabled veterans, Bernstein suggested that a veterans committee work on such a program.

The union's veterans committee, Bernstein declared, should keep abreast of the latest legislation for the benefit of veterans and pass the information on to members.

Members of the union's veterans committee, appointed last evening by William E. Meagher, president, include:

William L. McKenzie and David Rinker were appointed to represent World War I.

Meagher said that civilian members of the committee will be appointed later.

Col. Henderson Will Complete Army Duties On December 1

BLACKSBURG, Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—Col. Thomas W. Munford, 42nd artillery corps, will become professor of military science and tactics and commandant of cadets at Virginia Tech Dec. 1, Dr. John R. Hutcheson, VPI president, was informed today.

Colonel Munford will replace Col. George Henderson, who will resume his legal practice in Cumberland, Md.

Colonel Munford expects to arrive by Nov. 15.

Gnaedinger To Inspect Navy Recruiting Office

Lt. A. B. Gnaedinger, officer in charge of navy recruiting in Maryland, will visit here on a tour of inspection today.

The ten-month radar training program, Chief Boatwain's Mate Bradford Smith, in charge of local recruiting, said, is still open to men from 17 to 30 and ex-servicemen from 17 to 35.

The test, he said, can be taken at any time at the recruiting station. It covers high school mathematics, physics, general science, shop practices and elementary electricity and radio.

Will Is Probated

The will of William Rankin Holland, 762 Fayette street, an official of the Celanese Corporation of America, who died October 28, was admitted to probate yesterday. His widow, Mrs. Alice B. Holland, was named sole beneficiary, and his children, William R. Holland, Jr. and Nancy B. Holland, were named executors. The will, drawn August 30, 1944, was witnessed by Alice B. Williams and A. Grafton Williams.

Special Victory Loan Train Will Arrive Today

Naval Equipment Will Be on Display Thirteen Hours; Admission Free

The Navy Victory Loan special train, jammed with exhibits of naval equipment, will steam into Cumberland early this morning for a thirteen-hour visit, giving residents of the city and county an opportunity to see, among other things, such recently disclosed secrets of the war as radar and the Norden bomb-sight.

Coming here from Hagerstown where some 7,000 persons looked over the display yesterday afternoon and evening, the exhibit will be open to the public from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. There is no admission charge.

The train, composed of four flat cars, one baggage car, a Pullman and a caboose, will be located on a B. and O. siding paralleling Front street.

A brief ceremony is planned for 11 a. m., according to Thomas B. Finan, Jr., co-chairman of the Victory Loan bond campaign in Allegany county.

Mayor Thomas S. Post is scheduled to make a brief address of welcome at that hour and music will be furnished by the band from Fort Hill high school, Finan said.

He added that high school principals in the city will make announcements of the exhibit over the school's public address system and will urge students to attend inasmuch as the display is considered to be of educational value.

A leader in past War Loan drives in Allegany county but now a resident of Hagerstown where he is assisting in Washington county campaigns, Joseph H. Cromwell telephoned The Cumberland News last night to report that the navy special is "beautiful sight" and an exhibit not to be missed.

Resembles Submarine
Cromwell was enthusiastic in his description of the train, describing how the outlines of the four flat cars are designed to resemble a submarine. There is even a conning tower and port holes, Cromwell said.

Brass and copper have been rubbed to a high polish, flags "wave all over the exhibits are wonderful and altogether it is a beautiful sight," according to Cromwell.

Briefly he mentioned some of the exhibits, including a gun from the USS Ward, the ship that fired the first resistance shot at Pearl Harbor and sank a two-man Jap sub; a depth bomb, a Sikorski helicopter used in air-sea rescues, a working radar unit through which spectators in Cumberland will be able to spot prominent features of the city.

All these and many more exhibits are to be seen, Cromwell said, including the Norden bomb-sight, asbestos suit worn for fireproofing work on aircraft carriers, a diving suit weighing 190 pounds and capable of withstanding pressure at a depth of 300 feet, all navy medals and decorations, many kinds of ammunition including tracers, incendiaries, a depth bomb, mine and a submarine torpedo—about twenty-five or thirty feet long and three feet in diameter, Cromwell reported.

Blood Plasma Displayed
In the sick bay there is an exhibit of blood plasma as well as other medical supplies, he said, while mounted on the deck is an exact replica of the bronze surrender plaque placed on the deck of the USS Missouri following the surrender of the Japs which ended World War II.

Along with the exhibits, there are twenty-two naval veterans to explain them. All of the men are well acquainted with the display and close inspection will show that many of the medals displayed in one exhibit are worn by the men explaining them.

Accompanying the train here will be Mitchell Griffith, Treasury department representative.

He said last night that one of the principal aims of the present campaign is to have the state exceed its quota in E bonds, something that has not been done in any of the War Loan campaigns held in the past.

Buy E Bonds
Allegany county has achieved that goal in the past and so have some other counties, but the combined E bond sale has not been sufficient to put the state over the top from the E bond standpoint.

Griffith last night called on Allegany county to again exceed its E bond quota and help put the state over the top.
